

Slow site? Never!

Friday, 31 August 2007

We are experiencing low speed with one.com (our current .se host). We have been promised this will be corrected, but needless to say, if the slow speeds and occasional hiccups persist, we will switch hosts - it is naturally unacceptable. If it were possible, we'd use our partner, LiquidNet Ltd, however, they can register international domain names only. For others experiencing the same with one.com, we might suggest aleborg.se which is the one we're looking at now.

This means that page loading times reflect the host performance and not the lean 38.7KB template used here.
