

bitBrain Studios no longer does website, mobile app, or database work

Tuesday, 15 October 2013

For a while now, I've ceased to take on any website, mobile app, or database work whatsoever following my employment at Avia AB. If you still need my programming services, direct your enquiries to this company. It is a small company with years of experience in each of these fields, and we'll be happy to develop any of these things as well as web apps and administration systems!